DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3, 6, and 13-15 drawn to heating air or elements around combustion chamber, classified in class 123, subclass 545-547.
- II. Claims 4 and 5, drawn to heating fuel, classified in class 123, subclass 557.
- III. Claims 7 and 8, drawn to cold starting, classified in class 123, subclass 424.
- IV. Claim 9, drawn to remote starting, classified in class 123, subclass 179.3.
- V. Claims 10 and 11, drawn to alternate fuels, classified in class 123, subclass 544.
- VI. Claim 12, drawn to engine braking, classified in class 123, subclass 320.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP §

Art Unit: 3747

806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating the combustible mixture does not require heating the fuel. The subcombination has separate utility such as 123/557.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating the combustible mixture does not require that the engine be just started or cold started. The subcombination has separate utility such as for cold starting in 123/424.

Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating the combustible mixture does not require remote starting. The subcombination has separate utility such as for 123/179.3.

Inventions I and V are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating a combustible mixture does not require utilization of alternate fuels. The subcombination has separate utility such as 123/544.

Inventions I and VI are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating combustible mixtures does not require adjusting the crank angle. The subcombination has separate utility such as 123/320.
